FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14.

FOR DELEGATE TO THE 56TH CONGRESS PEDRO PEREA, OF BERNALILLO.

Modern Democracy, business stagna tion, national discredit and starvation and poverty for the laboring classes are cousins and are always found together.

Public confidence, satisfied and well paid labor, contented and employed vor of protection and "good times." the capital and Republicanism go hand in hand all over this broad and great trade, low prices for everything that county. There are a few exceptions, where local conditions are bad, but these simply prove the rule.

in reading the Democratic sheets published in New Mexico it must be admitted by all fair minded men that falsehood, deceit, hypocricy and slander are their main weapons in this campaign against Republican candidates and the editors of Republican papers.

Under a Democratic territorial ad ministration prosperity of two of the leading industries of New Mexico, the eattle growing and the sheep raising, is unknown. Under a Republican administration these industries flourish like a green bay tree and the men connected with them are contented, happy and

The experiences of Chaplain McIntyre and the sentence imposed by the court martial will have a tendency to keep men in the service from talking tow much. Such affairs are a little hard on the individual, but are good for the public and country. However, it will avail the chaplain nothing to pose as a martyr, the sympathies of the public are with "Fighting Bob."

It may as well be said that the grace of the Spaniards in this matter was anything but graceful. It is a case of where it could not be helped.

The Republican administration, since a full set of Republican county officials was elected by the voters of this county, in November, 1896, of beneficent memory, has been clean, able and honest. With good nominations, the Republicans will carry this county at the elections next month for every name on their ticket by handsome majorities. Let the leaders of the party and the principal Republicans in Santa Fe county heed.

Local sheep men hold that the oc casion of the glutting of the wool market, and consequent depreciation in prices, is due to the Wilson law under the previous Democratic administration, which let enormous quantities of Australian and other foreign wools into the American market to the detriment of the American growers. This filled the eastern warehouses, and let the bottom out of prices. But while the Dingley tariff stopped all this, the damage had been done by the Wilson law, and now wool growers are suffering, and will continue to suffer until the surplus has been consumed. The New Mexican is informed that two ex-collectors of taxes in San Miguel schools are to the reservations the more county, Jose L. The Meaning of a Vote.

While in some of the counties of th territory county tickets have not yet een named, the campaign of 1898 is fairly on and the voters of New Mexico are placed in a position where all loubts and hesitancy concerning the nanner in which they will cast their rotes must soon give place to a settled ourpose. When the questions before the people at the present time are thoroughly examined and understood, it will be found that the men who expect to do their duty on Nevember will be brought face to face with one proposition; there will be no middle ourse to take. Which is desired, prosperity or hard times? is the real issue n the election of 1898. In order to decide that question it is only necessary to glance at the records of the two political parties in the terriory, the Republican and the Democratic. A contrast of the prices paid for cattle, sheep and farm products in the years from 1893 to March, 1897, with those paid from the time of the inauguration of President McKinley to the present, will satisfy any one of intelligence and of a fair mind that the Republican party, through the enactment of a protective tariff law, has been able to restore living prices for the products of New Mexico's hills and plains and valleys and mines. The Democrats. furing their short tenure of power ame near wrecking the business inter sts of the entire southwest, and had conomic failures remained at the head of the nation, the smash would have been complete. It is not necessary to here bring forward any arguments to support the assertion. The facts, as the people remember them, are sufficient to substantiate the truth of the state ments made.

It is no more than right that the vot ers should understand the effect of a vote cast for Republican candidates and a vote cast for Democratic candidates. One will be an expression in faother will express a desire for free the voter has to sell and high prices for everything he is compelled to buy, and "hard times" generally. Every man is at liberty to take his choice, but in making that choice he must be ready to abide by the results, and place the blame or credit where it rightly be-

Irra legislative way much is at stake, and the people can not afford to elect a Democratic deleman, just because he is the candidate gate to congress. That is the situation in a nutshell. For the same reasons a gress from New Mexico. The voters Republican legislature must be elected in the elections of county officials the | The Secretary of the Republican Na experience in the administration of county affairs by Democratic and Re-

An example of what a set of lawless officials can accomplish in the way of lining their own and their friends' pockets at the expense of the poorer tax payers in the county is before the voters at the present time in San Miguel county. The New Mexican does not say that all Democrats are corrupt any more than it claims that all Republicans are above suspicion. But it does say that the Republican party will give the peonent, the stars and stripes will wave ple a better administration of public affairs than the Democrats, for the reason that the principles of the party are such that if they are carried out, as they have been ever since that party came to be a factor in the nation, honesty, carefulness, economy and justice to all must result.

For those who are engaged in the work there have been many discouragements, and now, after all that has been done, while conditions have been changed in most of the tribes and the opposition to teaching their children "white men's ways" has largely disappeared among the Indians, the beginning point seems only to have been reached. But the experi ence gained and the knowledge of Indian character acquired are worth all they have cost, and the future state of the American Indian promises to be that of civilization, self support and self respect. Certainly, there is much to be done yet, but the days of doubt and discouragement have passed. In the southwest the establishment of schools among the Indians has taught those in charge several important matters in connection with the education of the children. The most valuable lesson "learned is that the nearer the readily will the Indians consent to send their children to them. One of the mistakes made when the first schools were established was to locate them in the east. During recent years that has Viets, superintendent of the government Indian school at Santa Fe, says of the Indians: "It is an acknowledged fact that the Pueblos and Navajos are among our most observant Indian ribes. They are more fully alive to the value of that which is good in white men's ways, and equally awake to the bad. They are more eager to adopt that part of our education in which they see a commercial value than any other Indians whom I have met. They see alnost instinctively the difference be tween a real mechanic and a pretense They are willing to allow their children to remain a long time as apprentices provided they can see that the instrucion and appliances are of the best, and they do not seem to need any instrucion to enable them to judge which is eal and which is false." Professor Viets has had years of experience in eaching Indians of different tribes and his observations open up a new field in the instruction of rising generations of Indians, that of manual training.

The government is spending large ums of money each year in the different Indian schools of the country, and it is money well expended, but two things should be done in distributing the appropriations: Locate the schools near the homes of the Indians, and in addition to the regular course of studies provide for thorough training in me chanics. The 19th district is the most amous in the United States. It embraces the heart of the western reserve and has never sent a Democrat to congress since the Republican party was formed. In fifty years it has only had four representatives in that body. The first of these was Joshua R. Giddings, the famous abolitionist, who was probably as heartily hated by the slave-holders as any man in the union. Gidlings was succeeded by James A. Garield, who, as representative of the 19th, earned the fame that made him president. Ezrz B. If a man takes his wife and children to a place, it speaks well for the man and well for the place. By the way. one of the eight captains in my regiment in Cuba was a German by birth, but he was just as good an American as if his people had been here for three centuries. I allude to Captain Fritz Muller. His troop guidon was one of the first two flags planted on the summit of San Juan hiil. There were any number of my troopers who were of German origin; for Instance, my orderly, who was closer to me than any one else in the fighting beore Santiago. He was Heinrich Batsther whose father was an Achtundvierziger. I am glad of the support of all honest men. We are opposed to all financial heresies which call for cheap money, believing as we do that all money issued by the government should be of uniform and equal value.
